

Rev. Jennifer M. Joseph | Biography

Pastor Jennifer M. Joseph is a valued community influencer who is beloved for her contribution to the black and Haitian community in Philadelphia. In 2016, she founded the Bi-Annual Women's Fest Conference which is an empowerment event curated for women of color to equip them with the resources and tools that are needed to pursue their professional, educational, and business interests. She has also sat on the board of the Haitian Professionals of Philadelphia and also led one of the city's largest Haitian-American youth organizations---Christ-like Youth Ministries. (a.k.a "Jesus Swag")

Professionally, Pastor Joseph serves as the Deputy Director & Chief DEI Officer at HIAS PA. Prior to her promotion as Deputy, she served as the Director of Operations where she led the agency's transition to its new and improved location and also implemented new and improved agency-wide HR best practices. Prior to joining HIAS PA, she was the Interim Director and Human Resources manager at a medical staffing agency on the mainline.

In March of 2020, Pastor Joseph was recognized as a Woman of Achievement. She holds a Bachelor's Degree in Political Science, a certification in Human Resources Management, and is working towards her MBA. She obtained her Pastoral training at the Jameson School of Ministry and received her certification in 2011. In 2016, Pastor Joseph published her very first book titled "Her Redemption". She is a proud wife and a mother whose passion is to serve!
