Jennifer M. Joseph is an inspirational leader whose community involvement has generated a superb reputation. Since the age 19, she has been shattering glass ceilings and continues to pave the way for women after her. She was the first and youngest female Pastor within her community and successfully led a thriving youth organization. She currently serves as one of the City of Philadelphia's youngest CCO'S at HIAS PA which is a longstanding nonprofit organization providing legal and social services to immigrants. Prior to assuming her role as the Chief Operating Officer at HIAS PA, she led the successful relaunch of Accessible Home Health Care of the Mainline and smoothly transitioned the corporate company to the hands of its current owner.

Jennifer is also a wife and a mother who serves as the Administrative Pastor at the Zion Pentecostal Church of God. She has had the honor of publishing two books. The first one titled Her Redemption and the second one titled Bloom Circle. In December of 2019, Jennifer founded the nonprofit organization named Bloom Circle. Through Bloom Circle, she fights for gender equality and empowers women to bloom into the very best version of themselves. This is accomplished through the Bi-Annual Women's Fest Conference, through mentorship opportunities, and through a private web-based community that gives members access to a plethora of webinars and resources.
