

DeShawna is a technology consultant during the day and an entrepreneur after hours. She enjoys being a budgeting coach, speaker, host, youtuber, and mental health advocate. She graduated from Hampton University with her MBA and is now sharing her financial journey while paying off her student loans on YouTube and Instagram. She is the founder of Tell Me More Consulting which offers budgeting services and highlights African Americans paying off debt. She is also the creator of Humbee Wellness, an online business that sells products to help you manage anxiety and stress such as weighted blankets and more! DeShawna's goal is to keep God first and continue to create platforms that promote positive wellbeing. Watch her compete in the 2021 Miss Maryland pageant this July.